Odin

Homewood-Flossmoor High School
Flossmoor, Illinois
Volume XIII

The Vikings had a love of play and of work to a degree which made them bold fighters, brave sailors, and true poets. They loved danger, and their heroes were men who thought little of death and a great deal of getting things done. They pushed obstacles out of their way, and overcame difficulties, not only with fortitude and patience, but with joy in their hearts. They had in their souls a deep love of truth, of power of action, of the qualities which make men alive, keep them free, and give them authority. They thought of life as a tremendous fight, and they wanted to acquit themselves like men; enduring hardship without repining, doing hard work honestly and with a whole heart, and dying with their faces toward their foes. Their heaven was a place for heroes, and their Gods were men of heroic size and spirit. They dreamed of masterful Gods like Odin.

ROLOGUE

We are proud to present . . .

Odin was the highest of the Viking deities, and he is called the "Father of Man" because he created man from the limbs of a tree. Odin was also the wisest of all the Viking gods, and he is looked upon with respect because he shared his wisdom with man. This wisdom he procured from the well of the Giant Mimir by pawning one of his eyes. Thus, Odin appeared as a one-eyed man wearing a blue-gray cloak and a winged helmet. Two ravens perched on his strong shoulders, and two wolves lay at his feet as he sat in his high seat in the Hall of Gods, watching all that came to pass in the heavens and on the earth. If he saw an unjust occurrence, Odin rendered justice. Because of his sense of justice, men and gods alike fought valiantly to serve him. Odin's mortal warriors were proud to fight for such an awesome god, knowing that if they died in battle, they would then feast with Odin in Valhalla to honor their heroic death and to celebrate their glorious victory.

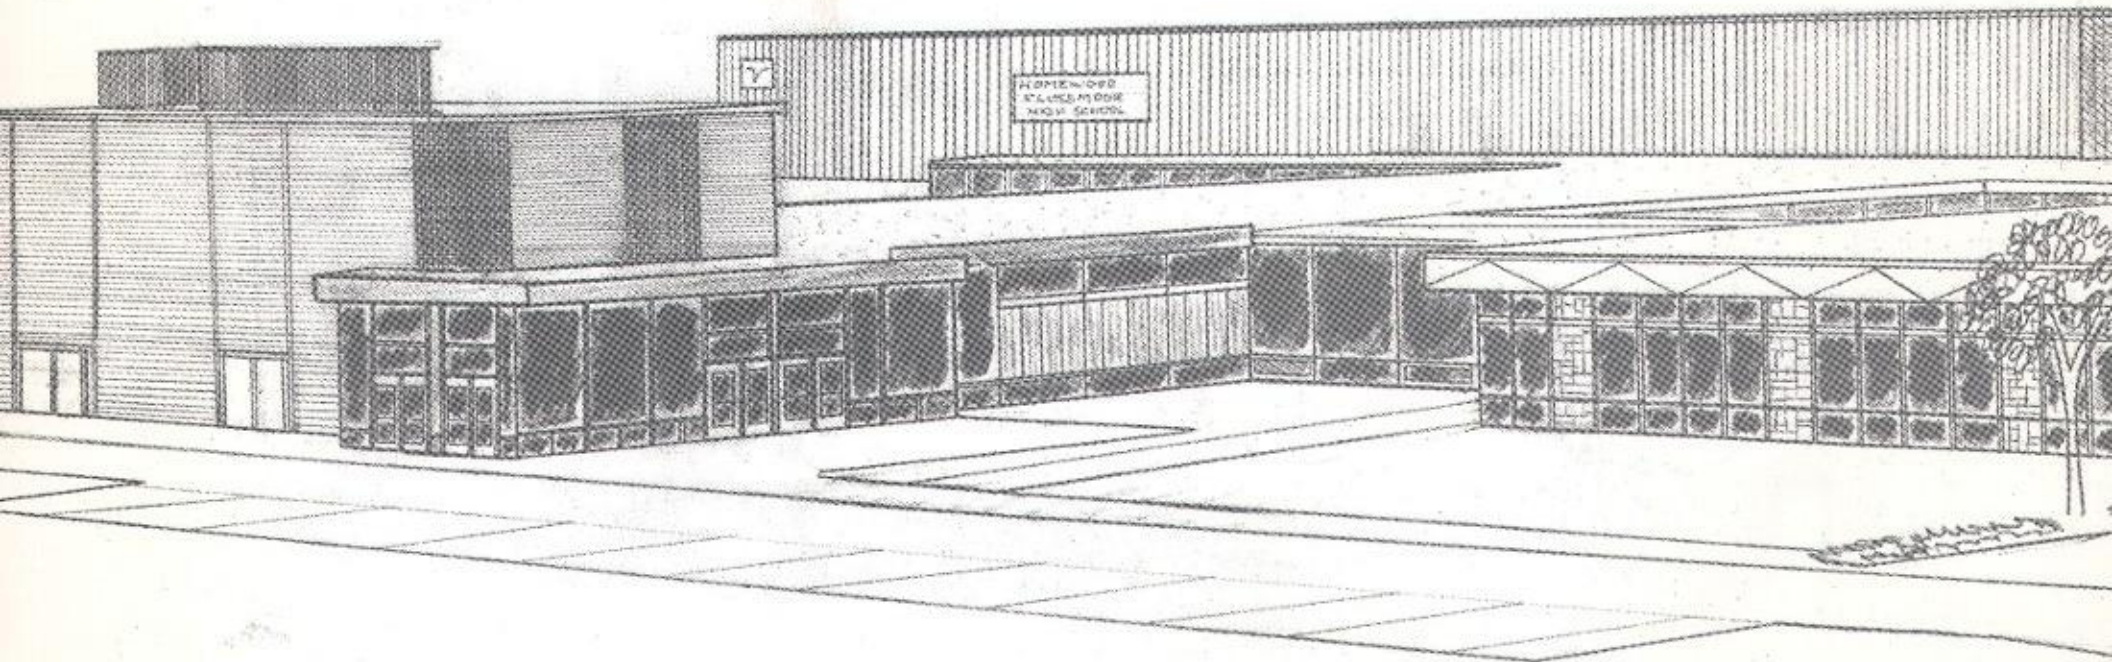

Just as Odin was an inspiration to the Viking warriors of bygone days, he has been an inspiration to the 1971-72 Yearbook Staff. Odin has been chosen as the official name of future H-F yearbooks.

BIG RED MACHINE REWRITES RECORD BOOK

For the first time in the history of Homewood-Flossmoor High School, our Varsity Football team took top honors by barreling through an undefeated 8-0 season to emerge the 1971 Southwest Suburban Conference Champs. We at Homewood-Flossmoor couldn't be prouder of the spirit displayed and the honors achieved by these 1971 gridders.

Labeled the "Big Red Machine" by the press, these young men were all of that plus much more as they rolled relentlessly toward the completion of their unblemished record. Enroute numerous records, both individual and team, were written into the H-F record book. However these seniors leave far more behind than records, they are the "beacon" and the pathfinder, to be followed by many future Viking gridders.

This year's Viking team accomplished a regional championship. It was a great example of determination and hard work. The team lost the Conference Championship on the last game of the year. Their morale was down and lesser men would have quit. However, they did not quit, but came back instead to play the finest basketball that they have ever played anywhere or at anytime this season.

The year is over and I have had many of the most wonderful experiences. One of the most important of these was my coming to HF, this school that many don't appreciate. Best wishes for all of you!

Hi, Everybody!

I want you all to know that I had a great year at HF! It was a year of excitement, joy and happiness, but also of some frustration and disappointment; that is inevitable. All in all it was one of the most important years in my life, and I will always remember it . . . thanks to all!

AUTOGRAHS

The editors of this yearbook have given me the opportunity to use this page for any comments I wish. While there are many topics about which I could write, I will discuss only one subject; the responsibility necessary for staff members of such a production as this annual. In bringing any group together to work on a common goal, there are in that group basically two different forces at work. One force is made up of the individual that faces up to the task and works responsibly toward its accomplishment. The antithesis of this force is the one which includes those students who merely wish to slide by without much effort, doing just enough to prevent going under. With a publication of such magnitude as the Odin Yearbook a student has an opportunity to become part of either force. When a number of students choose the avenue of sloughing off, the people in the responsible force group must exert greater effort to see the goals of the entire group accomplished. All too often in our society the success of a job undertaken by a large group winds up being completed by only a dedicated few. Our yearbook this year has been the result of this experience, and you now have it in your hands only because a few dedicated members of the staff exerted an outstanding extra effort. Had they not been willing to give 110% of themselves, we would still be awaiting the delivery of this book.

To this small group of dedicated workers, I, the adviser, say THANK YOU for your concern, your dedication and your perseverance.

Ken Kinney, Adviser
